Fifteen years ago this month the D. A. Perry Real Estate Agency was established, with the sole assets of two chairs, one desk, a disposition to work, and the confidence of our acquaintances. The first year was a hard one, and every year since we have found it necessary to work-but we have grown. 1913 was our banner year; over 6,000 acres of farm property being sold through us, aggregating about $203,560.00, besides a large volume of town and city property, stocks of goods, etc., etc., making our sales for the year amount to considerably above $300,000.00. Our six sub-agents deserve no small credit for their part in making this the most successful year in our history. We wish to thank all our patrons for their confidence in us, and we shall aim to merit their future business. And, while we do not expect to do all the business which is done in our line in this section, we shall appreciate any and all business which you may see fit to give us, and heartily pledge ourselves and our fifteen years' experience to handle it in such a way as to bring the best possible results.

Good salesmanship does not consist wholly in making a sale of property regardless of other conditions. If the buyer and seller always knew where to locate each other, there would be no use for the third party, but here is where the offices of the real estate man come in; getting the buyer and seller together on terms advantageous to both parties. A satisfied customer is the best advertisement any business can have. With our large and constantly growing list of farm and other properties, extending, as it does, over the various sections of the state, the prospective purchaser has little difficulty in making a selection, as to price and location. And, with our sub-agents working with us, as well as our connections in Boston and the West, together with our extensive advertising (having expended more than $10,000.00 in the past 10 or 12 years), we are able to reach a large number of people. In fact, last year nearly one-half of our farm buyers came from outside the state. Only a few weeks ago we sold a $5,000.00 farm to a purchaser from Montana who became interested in Vermont farm property through one of our catalogs, which we send into nearly every state in the union, as well as Canada, Mexico, Italy, Switzerland, Scotland, and England. We propose to make "Real Estate a Quick Asset" our slogan for 1914. Doe wants to sell his farm: Jones wants to buy: we get Doe and Jones together. Perhaps Jones lives hundreds of miles from Doe, but our advertising, our sub-agents, or possibly he is on our waiting list of buyers; we find him and the deal is closed even before your neighbors know you want to sell.
